Byron Barlowe is a research associate and digital communicator with Probe Ministries. He studied Communications and Marketing at Appalachian State University in gorgeous Boone, N.C. Byron served 20 years with Campus Crusade for Christ (CCC), eight years as editor and Webmaster of a major scholarly publishing site, Leadership University (LeaderU.com). In that role, he blogged before blogging was called that, edited an online journal and encyclopedia of Christian worldview scholarship, and oversaw several sub-sites, including the Online Faculty Offices of Drs. William Lane Craig and William Dembski. His wonderful wife, Dianne, served 25 years with CCC. They now track their triplets who entered college simultaneously in three different states, leaving them in an apocalyptic empty nest. Prayers welcome.

PROBE PUBLICATIONS
Addressing Anxiety in Tumultuous Times
COVID Conditioning: A Viral Outbreak is (Re)Shaping Us and Our World
Scraping Ceilings and Souls: Lessons on Sanctification From a Home Improvement Project
“Gosnell”: The Doctor Who Snuffed Out Babies and His Silencing Accomplices
Voting and Christian Citizenship
The Scandal of Blood Atonement: “Why All the Blood and Cross-Talk, Christian?”
Even America’s Largest Denomination Is Bleeding Members: Is It Too Late?
Gay Men to Lead Boy Scouts: Gates’ Failure to Render Genuine Leadership
The Tug of War of Reason and Faith in C.S. Lewis’s Favorite Novel
Crimping Consciences: Texas City Railroads Pro-Gay Ordinance
The Hunger Games: A Hunger, a Game, or a Calculated Viewing Option for Christians?
MySpace: Parents and Kids Wisely Navigating Online Social Networking unChristian: Is Christianity’s Image Hurting Christ’s Image?
Facing Facebook: Social Networking and Worldview
Charity and Compassion: Christianity Is Good for Culture
Boy Scouts and the ACLU: A War of Worldviews
Slavery, William Wilberforce and the Film Amazing Grace
Bridging to Common Ground: Communicating Christ Across the Cultural Divide
Graduation Gifts With Worldview In Mind
Myanmar Cyclone Response: Power-Lust and Lost Lives

PRESENTATIONS
The Deity of Christ
The Emerging / Emergent Church
Is Jesus the Only Savior (Exclusivity of Christ)
Worldviews
Discernment is For Everyone